

Lisa Sorrell boot maker

JULY 2017

NEWSLETTER

Getting back into the routine of working has been tough since the death of my daughter Paige--I miss her so much! But... it's time to go back to work, and I decided to start with a happy little project that she would have admired, so I made myself a new watchband.

I enjoyed making the first watchband so much I decided to make another in different colors.

